GPRBA is organizing a knowledge sharing forum, in collaboration with OPCS and the Results-Based Financing KSB to increase the visibility of results-based financing (RBF), convening practitioners to discuss collaboration in the RBF universe as well as build a sense of community with the participants. The forum will foster 2.5 days of experience sharing, collaboration as well as in-depth discussion on innovations and noteworthy lessons learned in RBF. The forum will provide an opportunity for networking and building partnerships and bringing attention to the organizations that implement and/or support RBF mechanisms. It will help strengthen partnerships by providing a platform to collaborate towards greater development effectiveness.

Objectives

The objectives of the forum event are three-fold:

- Connect practitioners to new information and opportunities across countries and regions;
- Catalyze innovative thinking and generate better development solutions for challenges in development context; and
- Facilitate knowledge sharing and provide an opportunity to network among experts and practitioners.

Participants

The forum will be particularly relevant for donors, international organizations, clients engaging on RBF and select World Bank staff supporting RBF.
