Juliet Pumpuni joined GPOBA as a Senior Infrastructure Specialist on February 25, 2013. Prior to joining GPOBA, she had been working as a Senior Energy Specialist in the Africa Energy Group, managing and providing implementation support for activities under the Africa Renewable Energy Access and Energy SME support in Sub Sahara Africa trust fund programs. She has over ten years hands-on experience in energy sector policy and infrastructure regulation from working on power sector reforms at the Ministry of Energy of Ghana and as a regulator reviewing both power and water tariff proposals, conducting rate impact studies and developing strategies to measure and ensure utility compliance at the Public Utilities Regulatory Commission of Ghana. Her educational background includes a Master’s Degree in Public Policy with a specialization in regulation and industry analysis from Harvard University, and a Master’s Degree in Energy and Environmental Economics from ENI Corporate University in Milan, Italy.

Raluca Golumbeanu joined GPOBA as an Infrastructure Specialist on February 25, 2013. Raluca has 15 years of professional experience in international development, working with national governments, international organizations, think tanks and universities. She joined the World Bank in 2008, working on energy projects with ECA and Africa Energy Unit. Her primary expertise is access to electricity and renewable energy development, participating in the design, implementation and evaluation of a number of rural electrification projects in East and West Africa. Raluca has been the task team leader of the Ethiopia GPOBA Access to Electricity Project and co-managed RBF approaches for mini-grids and solar energy development in Tanzania. She managed the Africa Electrification Initiative (AEI) aimed at creating a living body of practical knowledge and an active network of Sub-Saharan electrification practitioners, leading the research on various energy topics, including connection charges and access to electricity in Sub-Saharan Africa, micro-finance and rural electrification.

Oleh Khalayim joined GPOBA as a Monitoring and Evaluation Specialist on February 1, 2013. Oleh will be working for both Cities Alliance and GPOBA for the next few months. Prior to joining the World Bank Group, he was a division head at the Ministry of Economy and a privatization policy advisor at the Parliament of Ukraine, where he had also worked closely with the World Bank to fulfill DPL/PAL conditionality regarding transparent privatization of utilities and municipal property reforms. Oleh has a Master’s Degree in international development from Harvard and an economics undergraduate degree from Ukraine. As an NGO activist, he served on the board of the Ukraine Nature Conservation Society and participated in anti-poacher raids in protected areas, conducted jointly with the governmental environment inspectors.

Rui Maia joined GPOBA as a Voice Secondee. Rui is an undergraduate in Political Science from the Universidade Lusofona de Humanidades e Tecnologias in Lisbon with a specialization in International Relations. He began his career in 2006 in the office of the Deputy Minister of Finance as an Adviser to the Deputy Minister in Cape Verde. From June 2008 until July 2010 he worked at the Studies and Strategy Office within the Ministry of Finance and Planning as staff of the Resource Mobilization Department. In August 2010, he became the Deputy Director of Resource Mobilization Department within the National Directorate for Planning of the Ministry of Finance and Planning.

Ahmed Amine Berrada joined GPOBA as a Research Intern on February 4, 2013. He will be primarily supporting the Portfolio team with monitoring and evaluation of results of GPOBA projects. A native of Morocco, he is currently an engineering student at the École Centrale in Paris. His field of study has been finance, economics, strategy, physics, mathematics and chemistry. He is fluent in English, French and Arabic.